

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to a control device for non-positive connections, especially screw connections. The device includes two force application elements and a measuring element arranged therebetween. The measuring element is at least partially provided with a layer having a force sensory effect. The surface of the layer is provided with elevations for receiving a force applied by the force application elements.